

LITTLE GIRL LOST FIVE DAYS

Found Alive After Big Searching Party Had Given Up Hope of Seeing Her.

Cobalt, Ont.—Grace Cooper, a five-year-old child, who was lost on Burnt Island, which lies in Lake Timiskaming midway between Ontario and Quebec, and about three miles from Halleybury, where her mother lives, was found alive and well, five days and three hours after her disappearance. The child was found by C. H. Burton and John McLennan of Halleybury on the east shore of the island, about two miles from the camp from which she had strayed. Her head was resting on a log and her feet on another, and caught in this position she had evidently been unable to free herself.

A searching party of 88 men, all familiar with the bush, left Halleybury on the steamer Meteor for the purpose of making an exhaustive search of the island. The whole forenoon was spent in a most systematic search, but when every bush and nook and cranny had been thoroughly examined on that side of the island toward which she had been straying, and no trace of the missing child had been seen, practically all hope was abandoned.

The south end of the island had been scoured by hundreds of people, and it was thought useless to conduct a search in that quarter, and the afternoon was devoted to searching the western shore in both directions and dynamiting for the body.

Meanwhile Burton and McLennan had quietly made for the other side of the island on their own account, and in searching around there they found Grace at the foot of a cliff about two feet from the water.

How the child reached the other side of the island and was found alive is a mystery. The bush in many places is almost impenetrable to a strong man.

2 PRESIDENTS BURIED HERE

Remains of John Quincy Adams and His Son Lie in Quincy (Mass.) Church.

Quincy, Mass.—Lying in granite chambers under the portico of First Unitarian church at Quincy, Mass., are the mortal remains of two of the country's most famous presidents, John Adams and his son, John Quincy Adams. Visited by travelers from all over the world, this church is one of the most popular points of interest in the historic old city, rivaled only by the quaint, old-fashioned houses a mile or so away, where the two presidents were born. The tombs are built into the solid foundation of the front wall. A direct walk to them through the church basement has been made, and the massive sarcophagi are to be viewed through a door of open iron work. Beside the presidents, the tombs contain the remains of their wives, Abigail and Louisa Catherine. The old stone church was dedicated in 1838 and scores of illustrious men and women have worshipped there. John Quincy Adams occupied the "president's pew" whenever he was in town, and later the same pew was held by his son, Charles Francis Adams, minister to England during the Civil war.

On each side of the great mahogany pulpit is a tablet, honoring the memory of the two presidents, father and son. Other tablets now on the walls and still others to be added will make this church a sort of Bay state Westminster abbey.

TELL OF WIERD INCARNATION

Instance of Death of Young Girl and Birth of Child Much Resembling Her.

Rome.—The journal "Filosofia della Scienza" publishes a lengthy article by Professor Calderone dealing with an extraordinary case of "reincarnation" in the family of a Sicilian doctor named Carmelo Samona.

Doctor Samona and his wife lost their five-year-old daughter, Alessandra. A short time afterward, at a spiritualistic seance, the dead child was alleged to have told her mother that she would be reborn on Christmas day in the following year. At a second seance she announced, "There will be two of us; myself and another."

On Christmas day, fourteen months after the date of the last seance, Alessandra Samona gave birth to twins, both girls, marks identical with marks on the face of the dead child, and after a year, commenced to manifest exactly the same moral and physical tendencies.

The two children are now two years old. Professor Calderone's statements are confirmed and signed by a number of persons who were present at the spiritualistic seances.

Cincinnati—"Dry" on Sunday. Cincinnati—"Gloom prevails here. The town is to be "dry" on Sundays hereafter, in keeping with the orders of Governor Cox. Saloon keepers in Kentucky towns across the river are laying in large supplies in anticipation of prolonged visits on Sundays from thirsty Ohioans.

Proves Might of Pen. A pen nib is a little thing, yet there is more steel used in the manufacture of nibs than in all the sword and gun factories in the world. A ton of steel produces about 1,500,000 pens.

PREPARATION OF RATIONS FOR SWINE

This is a picture of a $5,000 Poland China boar, raised at Glen Ellyn, Ill. His head denotes his splendid breeding. With hogs selling around $8.00, this unlovely animal is one of great importance to the farmer and consumer as well.

(By E. J. IDDINGS, Idaho Experiment Station.)

How to prepare feeds for hogs to secure the greatest economy is a question frequently asked by hog raisers.

Corn should be fed on the cob. Where shelled corn is bought it should be ground or soaked. The Iowa experiment station after exhaustive trials found that feeding on the cob was most economical and that soaking for twelve hours was equal to grinding.

Such small grains as wheat, barley, oats and rye are commonly fed in Idaho and other northwestern states. The outer layers of these grains become very hard after a few months, and when such hard, flinty grains are fed to hogs a large part of them pass through the digestive tract whole as waste.

Hogs can be induced to do their own grinding by scattering grain on a rough concrete or other feeding floor, or by feeding grain in the sheaf. Ordinarily, however, we have to grind, roll or soak the small grains. Coarse grinding which leaves hard sharp corners is not recommended. Grains must be ground fine, especially for young pigs. Rolling grains leaves them in a porous condition, and when taken into the stomach they make a porous mass upon which the digestive juices can easily act. Grinding or rolling ordinarily saves about ten per cent.

Considerable difference of opinion exists as to advisability of wetting feeds for hogs. The self-feeder is successful if regulated to prevent waste; and when used feeds are, of course, fed dry. When rationing is given in a trough, our experience at the Idaho experiment station indicates an advantage from wetting feeds. Dry and flinty feeds need much liquid to moisten them, and the saliva and digestive juices are hardly sufficient for this purpose; furthermore, wetting makes feeds more bulky, thereby preventing rapid eating, and when fed in this rather bulky, wet form they satisfy the appetites of the older hogs for bulk.

Cooking and steaming were common a few years ago, but are now no longer popular. It has been found that cooking tends to lessen the feeding value of some grains, and in most cases does not bring enough benefits to pay for fuel and time. Exceptions to this rule are potatoes and beans, which give best results when cooked.

Alfalfa hay is cheap in the northwest, and can be successfully used for a large portion of the brood sow's winter ration, and as a small part of the allowance for fattening hogs. Experiments at the Idaho station indicate that alfalfa can be fed whole in a rack with greatest economy. After exhaustive trials the Nebraska experiment station found that alfalfa fed whole was slightly more economical than cutting or chopping it into short lengths, and that grinding fine into meal as compared with the other methods of feeding alfalfa was not so profitable on the farm.

CARE REQUIRED FOR THE WINDOW GARDEN

Particular Attention Should Be Paid to Water and Shade for Plants.

(By L. M. BENNINGTON.) Pay strict attention to the potted plants as regards water and shade, for all plants require some shade during summer, especially from the afternoon sunshine.

See to it that plants intended for winter blooming are not allowed to bloom now. Pinch off the buds as they appear.

Pots plunged in the border must be turned once a week to prevent the roots striking through the drainage hole.

Now is the time for making cuttings of geraniums and the like. Keep the slips damp until well rooted; then pot. Keep all buds pinched off until frost appears and kills outdoor flowers. The oleander will root quickly if slips are cut three or four inches long, put in a bottle of water, and hung in a shady place.

Seeds of pansies, lantanas, primroses, Impatiens Sultan, and the like must be sown now for winter blooming.

If you never have seen the snapdragon of the present day, and want spikes of beauty a foot long to gladden the dark eyes of winter, sow seeds of the improved snapdragon.

Kill Pocket Gophers.

An orchardist at Quincy, Wash., says that he has been successful in destroying pocket gophers in the orchard by digging a hole 2½ feet deep and a foot across. He has found that the pocket gophers get into the hole and are easily killed. He reports to the Western Farmer that he has found as many as 17 pocket gophers in one hole.

Area of Cornfields.

The combined area of the cornfields of the United States is nearly equal to the area of France or Germany.

Mules and Horses.

There are 4,386,000 mules and 20,667,000 horses in the United States.

Eggs to England.

Great Britain imported 40,000,000 dozen eggs the first three months this year, as compared with 35,000,000 dozen eggs the first quarter of 1912.

Chestnut Blight.

The chestnut blight has destroyed $19,000,000 worth of valuable timber in Pennsylvania.

Docking Prohibited.

The importation of docked horses into the Philippine islands has been prohibited by law.

Houdan Males Take Kindly to Fattening Process and Flesh Up Rapidly.

Houdan males are good breeders, and seldom fail to produce chickens that grow without much trouble, and when the time arrives for the separation of the sexes the cockerels will take kindly to the fattening process and put on flesh rapidly, and make up into table birds of good quality. The flesh of the Houdan is of good color, fine in grain, juicy and of fine flavor, and on that account it has gained for itself the premier position as a table bird in its native country. The breed has been used with advantage in the production of cross-bred fowls both for table use and egg production. To reproduce fine table birds Houdan males are mated to buff Orpingtons, whilst to produce a good laying cock, Houdan cockerels are mated to Leghorn or Minorca hens. The Houdan-White Leghorn is undoubtedly the best cross known for egg production, and the crossing of these two distinct breeds not only accounts for increased prolificacy in the progeny, but the process of crossing improves the fattening qualities of the cockerels produced. It may be truly said that the Houdan is capable of improving the progeny of most fowls with which it is crossed, and on that account it is an excellent breed to turn down with a view to the improvement of farm stock of a nondescript class. A few male Houdans mated to mongrel hens will stamp their likeness on the progeny, and not only will the chickens produced excel over their dams' meat properties, but they will prove better layers.

Lime for Fowls.

When there is a scarcity of lime in the bill of fare the shells of the eggs become thin. When being laid these soft-shelled eggs usually break and the hen thus acquires a taste. It is always best to gather the eggs several times a day so that there will be no chance for breakage by hens crowding on the nest, or by the newly laid egg striking those already laid.

Buying Pullets.

A great mistake is made oftentimes by buying a lot of pullets in the fall "for winter layers" (?), regardless of their known ancestors or laying proclivities. Poultrymen frequently remark that they can buy the stock of pullets wanted much more cheaply than they can raise them. But if the pullets are slow to lay, and lay but few eggs finally, it were far cheaper to have them raised at home from carefully selected stock, even at great expense, for we want eggs, not food consumers.

Backache Warns You

Backache is one of Nature's warnings of kidney weakness. Kidney disease kills thousands every year.

Don't neglect a bad back. If your back is lame—if it hurts to stoop or lift—if there is irregularity of the secretions—suspect your kidneys. If you suffer from backache, dizziness and are tired, nervous and worn-out, you have further proof.

Use Doan's Kidney Pills, a fine remedy for bad backs and weak kidneys.

My back ached constantly and I was a physical wreck. Doctors and expensive treatment of specialists failed. Doan's Kidney Pills helped me from the first and before long, restored me to good health."

Cuckoo Reformation.

A remarkable case of reformation on the part of two old cuckoos is reported by Col. A. M. Blake from his estate at Welwyn, Herts, England.

The colonel states that he found two young cuckoos with the parent birds in faithful attendance. As is generally known, the regular habit of the cuckoo is to lay its eggs in the nests of other birds, leaving the rearing of their offspring to perfect strangers.

This is said to be the third successive year that cuckoos have brought up their young at Welwyn.

BLIND SPELLS FOR A LONG TIME

Mrs. Largent Tells of Her Experience and How She Finally Came Out All Right.

Elkwood, Ala.—Mrs. Mattie Largent, of this town, writes the following letter for publication: "My health was very bad for a long time, on account of womanly trouble. I suffered a great deal, at different times, with headache, and pains in the bottom of my stomach, and had blind spells."

All of this made me so weak, I could hardly sit up. I tried treatment after treatment, but they did me no good.

Just as soon as I commenced taking Cardui, the woman's tonic, my health got better, and now I can do all my household work.

I will never be without Cardui in the house, and will recommend it to every lady that I can, for it has done me so much good, and I know it will do the same for others, if they will give it a trial."

The reason Cardui has attained such wonderful success in the treatment of diseases peculiar to women, is that it acts specifically on the womanly organs. It contains purely vegetable ingredients, of real medicinal merit, and in a safe, gentle way, helps build the womanly constitution back to health and strength.

Cardui is being successfully used by thousands of women every day. You need regret giving it a trial. N. ECZEMA ON HEAD AND FACE

Reedy, W. Va.—"My baby boy when three weeks old took the eczema on the head and face. It broke out in pimples and first they looked like blisters and a yellow water would run from them. His head was perfectly raw and his hair was all gone. Everybody said he would never have any more hair. As the sores spread his hair came out. The breaking out itched so badly that we had to keep gloves on his hands to keep him from scratching his head and face. It caused disfigurement. He couldn't rest at night it burned and itched so badly."

"He was treated for eight months and he got worse all the time. So I decided to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment. In two months he was completely cured after using the Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment." (Signed) G. A. Dye, Jan. 7, 1912.

LEFT THE ATTORNEY SMILING

Probably Judge, with a Little Thought, Would Have Expressed Himself in Somewhat Different Manner.

There was at one time in Georgia a judge who had many duties beside his legal ones to perform, but who never for a moment forgot that he "embodied the law" under any and all circumstances.

On one occasion he was called upon to act as auctioneer to dispose of some merchandise left by a dry goods merchant who had died some time before.

During the auction one of the bidders created a disturbance, and finally the exasperated auctioneer, assuming his character as judge, fined the man $50, and sent him to jail for contempt of court.

An attorney made an application to remit the fine and release the prisoner, on the grounds that there had been no contempt of court. He maintained that the judge when acting as auctioneer was not a court, and therefore was not liable to contempt.

The judge heard this application presented with rising wrath, and assuming all the dignity which he possessed, he glanced fiercely down upon the diminutive attorney.

"Sir," said he in stentorian tones, "I would have you know that I am judge of this place under any and all circumstances; I am judge all the time, sir, from the rising of the sun to the going down of the same! And as such," shaking a forefinger at the attorney, "as such, let me tell you, sir, that I am always and everywhere an object of contempt."—National Monthly.

Young Tom Tootle was spending a holiday in the country, and had been invited to the beautiful home of a sweet young thing named Agnes.

"It does," remarked the somewhat unimpassioned P. P. P.

"Ah," said Tom, still cheerily, "and that old stone wall over there, sir?"

"It does," came the gruff answer; "and it goes as far as the river on the south, and to the main road on the north."

"Beautiful!" put in Tom.

"Yes," went on the old man; "but it doesn't go with Aggie!"

Then Tom faded painfully from view.

Father's Plan.

It was in a suburban town and the good minister had taken his class of boys on a little picnic out in the woods.

Each was supplied with a basket of fruit and sandwiches, and as they sat down in a picturesque spot to appease their sharpened appetites, the minister asked:

"Now, boys, what is the best and most appropriate time to thank the Lord?"

The boys looked at each other in silent questioning.

"What does your father do when he sits down to his meals?"

One of the lads, a little red-haired chap, promptly answered:

"Cuss the cook."

Rocking-Chair Signs.

An observant Atchison woman says she can tell from the way a woman rocks on her front porch what condition the house behind her is in. If she sways back and forth with a floppy, comfortable motion, plumping both feet down in a relaxed sort of way, then everything about the house is absolutely clean and neat. But if she rocks in little nervous jerks, tapping her feet down at short and irregular intervals, it signifies that there are unmade beds behind her and stacks of unwashed dishes and dusty floors.—Atchison Globe.
